Preferred Citation: Type of document; names of sender and recipient, or title of document; date; folder title or White House Office of Records Management Subject Code and case number; box number; Collection Title and series/subseries, George W. Bush Presidential Library.

Scope and Content Note: This collection consists of 18 series primarily based upon the offices within the White House that utilized the materials contained within each series. Every item in this collection was created in bulk quantities for usage at White House events, for dissemination to the public or government officials, or for the support of administrative functions. In most cases, three copies of each item were included in the collection unless fewer were located. The majority of items were sampled from boxes that contained only bulk materials, however, some items were removed from boxes that contained a mixture of unique Presidential records and bulk materials. Items often appear in the collection numerous times because they were located in boxes attributed to different offices within the White House.

Bulk Pallet Sampling is the only series that is not directly associated with one White House office. It is the result of a sampling of material that was sent to the George W. Bush Presidential Library for storage by the George W. Bush Presidential Center. The Center approved the sampling that occurred for the permanent retention within the Library's holdings. This series is comprised of baseball cards, books, cards, certificates, envelopes, invitations, response cards, posters, programs, printed materials, speeches, stationery, stickers, and tickets from a variety of offices across the White House.

Office of Faith-Based and Community Initiatives contains printed reports relating to the advancement of President Bush's faith-based initiatives.

White House Gift Office consists of envelopes, labels, and response cards which supported the administrative functions of the Gift Office.

Office of Homeland Security consists of envelopes from the Office of Homeland Security. These were presumably discontinued in use after the Office of Homeland Security transitioned to its new name, Homeland Security Council.

Office of Laura Bush contains a 2005 inaugural coloring book and printed material from the National Book Festival. These items were not attributed to a specific component within the Office of Laura Bush.

Office of Laura Bush – Chief of Staff is comprised of compliment cards, envelopes, and response cards as well as packets including invitations and other information for the 2005 inauguration.

Office of Laura Bush – Correspondence consists of material that was mailed to the public as well as items from the National Book Festival, the annual Easter Egg Roll, and other White House events. Administration baseball cards; compliment cards; holiday cards; envelopes; lithographs of the President, Mrs. Bush, and the presidential pets; Bush family recipe cards; programs from various White House events; assorted proclamations; Laura Bush stationery; printed materials; and Miss Beazley and Spot stickers are included. Also represented are a variety of response cards; these provided a canned response to correspondence on certain common topics.

Office of Laura Bush – Projects and Policy includes invitations, lithographs, event packets, programs, and printed materials relating to activities surrounding Mrs. Bush's initiatives such as Helping America's Youth, the White House Conference on Global Literacy, and Preserve America.

Office of Laura Bush – Scheduling is comprised of credentials from the 2008 Read All About It! book tour as well as copies of form letters from Laura Bush on several topics.

White House Office of Legislative Affairs contains bound copies of the State of the Union addresses from 2006 and 2007.

White House Office of Management and Administration consists of envelopes from the Office of Homeland Security. These were presumably discontinued in use after the Office of Homeland Security transitioned to its new name, Homeland Security Council.

White House Photo Office contains administration baseball cards, envelopes, facsimile signatures for George W. Bush and Laura Bush, lithographs, and stickers. These items were presumably mailed along with photographs or sent in lieu of photos.

Office of Presidential Correspondence contains only holiday cards from 2005.

Office of Greetings – Presidential Correspondence contains response cards for correspondence relating to anniversaries, birthdays, congratulatory greetings, condolences, overcoming illness, relief for Afghan children, thank you notes, and wedding greetings comprise the majority of this series. Also included are envelopes and stationery.

Office of Presidential Correspondence – Presidential Personal consists of holiday cards, invitations for the 2005 inauguration, and invitations for assorted holiday events at the White House.

White House Office of Records Management contains only holiday cards and envelopes from 2004.

White House Social Office consists of invitations and programs from White House luncheons, dinners, performances, and receptions.

White House Office of Speechwriting contains bound copies of several State of the Union addresses and an inaugural address.
